

Nassau-Queens Endodontics, P.C.

Fees In Our Office

The fee for your treatment is determined by the complexity of the tooth being treated. This will be presented to you prior to the beginning of your endodontic treatment. Patients are expected to make full payment upon completion of treatment unless other arrangements are made.

For those patients with dental insurance, it is based on a contract between your employer and the insurance company. While we will attempt to estimate your dental benefits to the best of our ability, this is an estimate only, and should not be depended on as a final decision. Should questions arise, it is best to contact your insurance company directly. Patients on dental plans for which we are participating providers will be expected to pay any deductible and/or co-payments.

I have read the above information and agree that I will be responsible for any outstanding balance.
